

2019 Book Festival Writing Competition

WANTED: all budding writers!

Write a short story (up to 1000 words) from one of the following prompts by author

Jon Robinson:

"It had been the worst day of my life. It all started when..."

"I've got something to tell you," said Danny, excitedly. "But you have to promise not to say a word to anyone."

I had just sat down at my desk when I spotted a note had been left for me. I picked it up and read it and my eyes started to widen...

To be emailed in to Mrs Kesteven no later than Monday 25th February.

Prizes will be awarded by Jon Robinson when he visits on March 8th!