This was Taran's fourth visit to Reading School.

Photos of author workshop with Taran Matharu

During the workshop, Taran revealed the simple technique he uses to come up with story ideas and then encouraged pupils to have a go at creating their own.

Taran explained how his technique was used to create the Summoner Series. By thinking about what he enjoyed or interested him from books, films and computer games he identified the elements he wanted to use in the Summoner books. This was combined with personal experiences and other interests.

Student Feedback:

I thought the workshop was really good. I liked that Taran Matharu taught us how to connect all of your ideas together to create a story. It was really engaging and inspired me to think of ideas for a story that I was writing.

Ayuksh, 7C

I thought it was very useful. We learnt a brand new skill which is fantastic for writing stories - it was also very inspiring

Savinu, 7C

I enjoyed Taran Matharu's talk because he shared lots of information about how he became an author and how he wrote his previous books. I liked the writing section because we were able to come up with our own ideas for writing a book.

Henry, 7L

Taran was amazing! He introduced us to a new style of planning a book which was amazing. He was very encouraging and fun. He even gave me some advice on how to be motivated. Overall, he was amazing and very enthusiastic! He even signed our books!

Jacob, 7C

I really enjoyed the workshop. His method of figuring out a dream book was very good. Taran really inspired me to follow my dreams.

Nathaniel, 7L

I really liked the workshop. The method of how to create the base of the story was really clever and I learnt a lot from Taran Matharu. After he had explained what the Summoner series was about, I really want to read it. Even the first few pages which I read, they were great it seems like a really good series.

Abhiram, 7L

It was really good and it opened me up to the world of books a lot more.

Rowan, 7C

I thought the workshop was really fun and I liked the experience of meeting an author.

Devayan, 7L

I thoroughly enjoyed the workshop as the author answered all the questions we had and told us all about his Summoner Series which I am currently reading and I know the rest of the book will be fantastic.

Sai, 7S

His method to come up with books is really good and fun to do. His method helped me come up with a story of my own!

Benjamin, 7L

What I liked about the workshop is the method Taran showed us about making an idea to a book, as it allows us to make a fun story based on our own interests. It can easily get the struggle of making a plot out of the way, and it can easily become the foundation of the story.

Adedayo, 7C

I found that meeting Taran Matharu was a great experience and came out knowing more than when I came in. His method for creating story ideas was amazing as it incorporates all your favourite things, therefore you will enjoy writing it. He was also very kind and took time to answer my question (at the end after question time) about how to overcome writers block. He has inspired me to continue writing my story and taught me how to make it better.

Ishaan, 7C

I really enjoyed the workshop, as I got to try his way of coming up with a story idea, and that inspired me to write a story of my own using his idea. I found it very informative, and I think soon I am going to read his books.

Ethan, 7L

Taran Matharu's way of planning was very interesting, I hadn't thought about writing in that way before! I am looking forward to reading some of his books because I like his way of writing/planning and the themes he writes in.

Noah, 7C

I liked the helpful advice given into planning a story, mashing up all topics e.g. TV shows, movies, video games, books into 1 organised planning sheet - transforming all ideas into 1 big read. The positivity of the workshop, shown all the way through the lesson, told me that nothing is scary about planning and writing up a story of your choice. and that you can let your imagination run wild.

Pedram, 7C

I really am thankful to Taran because lately I have started producing much better work in English and my elective (creative writing)

Aiyaan, 7S

I really liked it I didn't know how to write a good story but now I know how now I'm going to write my own good story.

Jules, 7C

It was awesome having the talk and asking questions to a well-known author and discovering the secret ways of how to plot out an interesting book

Jason, 7E

It was very useful as I learned quite a bit from it. I am quite proud that I also got ones of the books signed by him as well.

Pranavram, 7W

It was amazing! I loved meeting one of my favourite authors.

Sonia Leong Article by Jim 12TT

Sonia Leong visited the school and hosted a number of manga talks and a workshop, as part of the wider Book Festival on the 1st of March. The workshops in particular were well received by those who participated and involved Sonia running a crash course in drawing manga characters, effortlessly demonstrating the steps and techniques to go through when undergoing such an endeavour. Not only did she stun with her speed drawing (on A2 paper with a whiteboard pen, might I add) but she also enlightened and inspired some of the participants:

I really enjoyed the talk and workshop because in both I learnt something. I do not read manga regularly so I did not know much about this topic but after Sonia Leong's talk, it has made me want to start drawing some manga figures in my free time for practice and to also read.

Sai, 7S

I thought it was so cool to see a manga artist in person and how she does her artwork! I really found her and her lifestyle/ work very inspiring as well as encouraging me to try manga books and drawings!

Rushil, 8C

It was very interesting, I learnt a lot of new things about the manga genre as I read it but didn't actually know anything about the development process.

Reuben, 9S

Along with demonstrating her artistic skill, she also gave an insight into her daily routine as a full-time illustrator/manga artist to the sixth formers as well as general art advice regarding burnout management, doing commissions and going to conventions among other things.

All in all, Sonia Leong's workshop was an astounding success, our students got to witness first-hand the artistic process behind designing manga characters and we look forward to having her back again next year!

More Student Feedback:

Amazing Talk! Author really cheery and seemed like she actually wanted to be here. Really interesting topic as well.

Robert, 9W

It was really interesting, and it was cool to see the work that gets put into manga.

Nathan, 7S

I enjoy reading manga and watching anime so it was interesting to see the process in how it was made and the hard work that goes into it

Ray, 9E

I believed it introduced the art, styles and genres of manga, manhwa and anime to the audience quite well, as well as having some more specialised tips for anyone interested in pursuing a career in manga and comics. I also enjoyed the general idea.

Justin, 9W

Great speech, very entertaining and I learnt a lot about different manga and styles

Isaac, 9W

I liked learning about something I didn't really know about.

Harrison, 8C

It was interesting which sort of surprised me because I am generally not interested in manga or anime. She talked very fast but I think that was a good thing

Peter, 9S

I am a big fan of anime and manga, one of my pastime hobbies is drawing manga so I really enjoyed learning from someone who does it for a job. The only issue I have is that we did not have enough time!

Yiannis, 9W

I thought it was very useful for art guidance in general, even though I am terrible at it. I learnt how feeling is created in art, and I will find this useful for a lot of things that I do. The talk was also very engaging even though I dislike manga.

James, 9L

It was very informative. She talked a lot about the financial and business side of things which I was unclear of and it was overall an extremely interesting talk followed by a fun workshop.
